

PUTOVIBE

"Your Daily Dose of Delight"

putovibe@gmail.com

139 Geronimo Drive, Tandang Sora Quezon
City

+639104851673

CONTENT

01

Objectives

02

Mission and Vision

03

History

04

Target Market and Competitors

05

Direct Cost and Indirect Cost

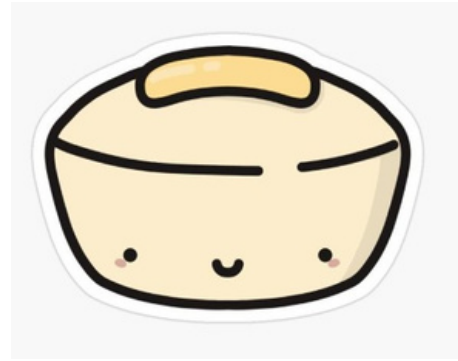

06

Gross Profit

07

SWOT Analysis

OBJECTIVES

Our business aim to expand distribution channel, to increase sales and cater more customers in the future. We target also to have a different types of puto as an option for our customers to get the taste or flavors that they want.

MISSION AND VISION

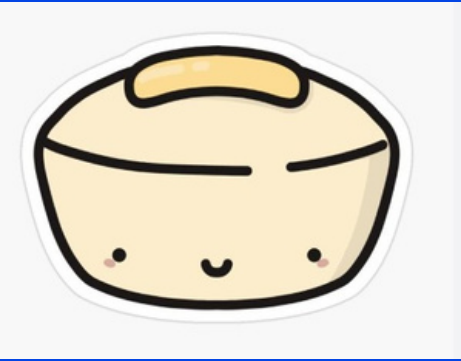

To recognize the puto brand here in the Philippines known for quality, and maintain the significance of filipino delicacies. - To expand the business and have their own production area and branches.

To innovate and diversify puto products, catering to changing consumer tastes while maintaining traditional flavors and quality." "To build a community-driven puto business that empowers local entrepreneurs and fosters a sense of community through shared food traditions."

HISTORY

Our journey begun as five friends getting Cookery NC11 Training Program. We are in one group that time, helping one another to learn and develop our skills. After our final assessment and received the certification and allowance, we decided to used the money and skills that we've learned from cookery by putting up a small food business. The first target market are our families, friends and the community that truly help us to grow and market the puto product to others.

TARGET MARKET AND COMPETITORS

- Goldilocks
- Red Ribbon
- Bellas Puto

Student-Focused Ventures:

- Position puto as an affordable and satisfying snack for students, especially near schools.

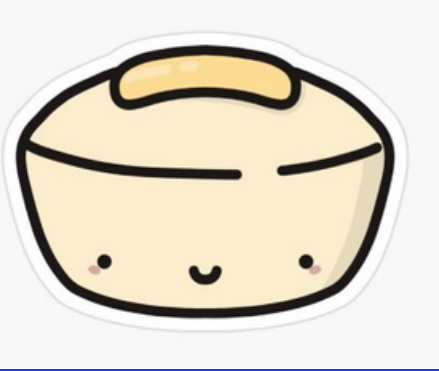

Social Media Marketing

Utilize social media platforms to promote your products, share recipes, and engage with customers

Delivery Services

Offer local delivery to increase accessibility and expand your customer base.

DIRECT AND INDIRECT COST

All-purpose flour	200.00	Gas	80.00
Sugar	175.00	Labor	300.00
Baking powder	60.00	Packaging	175.00
water	-	Transpo Market	50.00
Evaporated milk	125.00
Medium eggs	180.00
Unsalted butter	300.00
Cheese	145.00
Total Direct Cost	1,185.00	Total Indirect Cost	605.00
Total Direct and Indirect Cost		1,790.00

GROSS PROFIT

Price	6.00	each
Costing per Piece	3.58
	Volume (pcs)	Costing Capital	Sales	Profit
Daily	500	1,790.00	3,000.00	1,210.00
Weekly (6 days)	3,000	10,740.00	18,000.00	7,260.00
Monthly (26 days)	13,000	46,540.00	78,000.00	31,460.00
Yearly (313 days)	156,500	560,270.00	939,000.00	378,730.00

SWOT ANALYSIS

Strengths

It can be a simple home-based or kiosk-style business, requiring less complex infrastructure than a full-service restaurant which offers affordable, traditional snacks with creative flavor variations

Weaknesses

Limited brand recognition and promotion, dependence on unstable raw material prices, and potential issues with shelf life or distribution

Opportunities

Go beyond the traditional to offer unique flavors like ube, chocolate, strawberry, or even savory options. Explore ingredients like malunggay for a healthier product or cassava for a different texture.

Threats

Intense Competition: Facing numerous other sellers of puto, as well as other desserts, pastries, and snacks that may have more established brands or wider availability